

Learning with Puppets

An academic project done at Industrial Design Center (IDC) IIT Bombay

Puppets are always fascinating, surrounded by an atmosphere of unreality and fantasy, magic and mystery, hearty humour and comedy. This project aimed to experiment and explore the potential of puppets, by placing them in the small hands and minds of children allowing them to learn and explore through role playing. A set of puppets which comprises of a family was explored using found objects and waste materials. This has formed a kind of kit that includes a stage and allows children to role-play with puppets in different settings.
